More Marconi

By: Editors

Some photographs from The Marconi Company in England arrived too late to accompany the article by Dr. George H. Brown on "Marconi" in the Spring 1980 issue of COSMIC SEARCH, so we present them here.

Marconi in 1902 with induction coil spark transmitter (right), Morse inker, which traced the dots and dashes on a paper tape which Marconi is holding, and a "grasshopper" transmitter key between the inker and the coil. This photograph is a frame from the first motion picture made about the wireless.
