REACH FOR THE STARS

The British Interplanetary Society was founded in 1933. It has long been to the fore in promoting forward-looking programmes for the advancement of space exploration and utilization.
BIS membership is international.

The Society has two magazines:
Spaceflight reviews present events and trends, provides an extensive news coverage and major review articles.

Journal of the British Interplanetary Society, first issued in 1934, holds a unique place in the history of space exploration. Always to the fore, over 70 of its unique "Intelligent Studies" issues have already appeared. JIBS identifies and describes key technical areas in wide-ranging special issues. Its new book High Road to the Moon highlights some of the Society's ideas and projects over the period 1933-1974 through the visionary drawings of the late R.A. Smith (£6.00 or $13.00 post free).

Publications, Membership and book details are all available from the Society, now in its new HQ building at 27/29 South Lambeth Road, London, SW8 1SE, England.

Cover jacket of Project DARTMOUTH Final Report: 24 papers summarize the work of the last year study for a starting probe to Barnard's star. The unique 1972 pp Report is the most ambitious and detailed study yet undertaken for an interstellar starship. Price (£4.00 or $11.00) post free.

You are invited to become part of one of humanity's most challenging enterprises: help us chart the unknown beyond our native planetary system. Join us as we aid scientists in their efforts to detect and study planetary systems beyond our own.

Since a little support can make a big difference in this fledgling scientific effort, we have formed a Foundation for the collection and dispersal of these badly needed funds: the funds will be granted to scientists now developing the first instrumentation capable of detecting planetary systems of other stars. Our combined contributions can make a significant difference if applied carefully, for example to supply a badly needed instrument or to help prepare a proposal to a national funding agency.

Send your contribution or request for further information to the Extrasolar Planetary Foundation, Observatory Station, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15214.

OUR COSMIC UNIVERSE — an exciting new book about the cosmos with the basic principles explained in simple terms.

Replete with enjoyable human-interest stories about the first optical and radio telescopes, the discovery of x-rays, cosmic rays, quasars, pulsars, the 3 degree Big Bang background, gamma rays from space and many more.

Sections on practical things to do, including simple observations and experiments with small telescopes, both optical and radio.

A few of the many topics include:

- The Universe in 7 Steps • Solar Winds and Solar Gales
- Photons from A to Z • From Roentgen to UNRURJ
- Rendezvous with a Star • A "Guest Star" Appears
- A Cosmic Cocktail • The Song of Hydrogen
- The Mysterious SS433 • The Water holes

Wear the Expanding Universe on your chest.

LET THE WORLD KNOW ABOUT YOUR INTEREST IN ASTRONOMY with T-shirts and bumper stickers from the ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY OF THE PACIFIC.

Since 1889, the A.S.P. has brought together professional astronomers, amateurs, educators and interested laypeople. Although we began as a Pacific Coast organization, today our members can be found in every state and in 84 foreign countries.

Membership in our non-profit society is open to everyone with an interest in astronomy; benefits include: Mercury magazine, which brings you authoritative non-technical articles on the latest discoveries about the Universe; a directory of astronomy activities and services in your area; and a membership card good for discounts at planetariums and stores around the country.

For a free illustrated brochure and a discount catalog which includes many other astronomical items besides the bumper stickers and T-shirts, send coupon (attached) to:
